LDG’s popular Z-100 economy tuner is now the Z-100Plus. Still small and simple to use, the Z-100Plus sports 2000 memories that store both frequency.

Greetings, I just recently purchased a used Yaesu FT-817 from the forums here on QRZ and it came with several accessories, one of which was a LDG. I use the LDG AT-897 for the FT-897 (same board as FT-857) and it works fine in most matching scenarios. I assume the Z-100 is basically the same as the AT-897. And thanks for another review ziggs, sounds like a definite buy now :). LDG automatic antenna tuners have far wider impedance tuning ranges than LDG's popular Z-100 economy tuner has metamorphosed into the Z-100Plus. My portable station consists of a FT-817, a HF Packer home-built kit amplifier, a LDG z-100 tuner and a nice pack to fit it all. It seems like a minuscule setup.

I was very reticent about Chinese radios but the recent increase in the number of users of Hytera on MARC-DMR network made me raise the elbow. I added the LDG Z-100 antenna tuner to it, and it mounted. If you don't know anything about Ham radio, please read my first article on radios. It breaks out.
